FINANCIAL & COMMERCIAL

FRIDAY EVENING, Dec. 15, 1865. The money market ruled quiet to-day, the discount demand being quite moderate, and the tendency of currency was toward great er case, most of the banks reporting their adition considerably improved and quite atisfactory in this quarter. In Eastern Exchange, however, we have still to report close market, and there is nothing doing in trade circles that promises any relief. The prevailing rates are par buying, and selling at 1-10 premium to regular dealers. Gold continues on the upward course, bu the advance movement is slow. The price closed to-day at 1464. Government securi ties are reported less active in New York to-day, but quotations are a shade better.-Coin and governments ruled as follows, buy ing and selling, in this market to-day:

Compound interest notes at 1011@106 buy ing and 1021@108 selling, for the variou There is only a moderate demand for me ney at Chicago and Cincinnati, and at both points the supply of currency works easier. Eastern Exchange, however, is close at both points, and Chicago bankers still find it ne essary to send forward currency to main Advices from the mercantile centres East and West concur in the statement that, business has not during the past four years been onducted with so careful an eye to safety as now, and indicate unmistakably the tendency of trade toward a healthier condition than it has enjoyed since the era of paper of the country are beginning to understand more fully than they have ever done before, that there is no real prosperity in a business that is continually liable extreme ups and downs according as the audience. The beautiful play of "Fanchon, speculative current may run, and which is as begun it must be, at some time or other, This movement is all the more significant, because voluntary. It can hardly be regarded as the result of the policy determined upon by Mr. McCulloch, for contraction is as yet but a theory, and may not become fact for a year or longer; and indeed the pa per money of the country is daily increasing. It is therefore to be ascribed purely to the conviction of business men that the only safe road to prosperity is obedience to those natural laws which control and regu late the operations of trade, and which will ultimately assert such control, in spite of all There it, nothing essentially new to be said obtocal commercial matters. The markets continue very dull, and white holders are firm in their views, buyers show no dispo sition to operate. Flour and Wheat are nominally unchanged. Corn improved to to-day, with a moderate inquiry. Oats are held at an advance of ic. Provisions are unchanged. Produce is steady. Highwines are steady. Petroleum quiet and steady.
